Released on bond

Khoury charged in fatal shooting

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

A 26-year-old Romulus police officer was released on personal bond after his arraignment Saturday on charges of second-degree murder and felony firearm in 35th District Court in Plymouth.

Officer James Khoury was released on 10 percent of $100,000 after bond was set by Judge James Garber.

Khoury, charged with the June 27 fatal shooting of James Hester, 25, a Romulus man, was previously suspended with pay from the police department pending an Wayne County Prosecutor's Office investigation.

The prosecutor's office Friday issued a warrant charging Khoury and ending an almost two-month probe into the June incident at the Birch Run Apartment complex.

A preliminary hearing is scheduled for August 27.

Khoury, a Romulus police officer for two years, was dispatched to the scene of a fight between Hester and another man in the evening of June 27 and subsequently shot and killed Hester in the head while attempting to break up the altercation.

The incident raised resident's anger over whether the shooting was justifiable or racially-motivated.

Statements taken during interviews conducted by the Romulus Roman shortly after the shooting indicated that sentiment disapproved of the officer's behavior but that there may have been justification.

Khoury had indicated after the shooting that Hester held a knife and that his reaction stemmed from what he assessed to be life-threatening situation.

At that time, the police department released information that the shooting would be investigated by an outside source—the prosecutor's office—and any conclusions would be drawn when the investigation ended.

The Wayne County Prosecutor's Office received statements from witnesses that suggested that the officer was under no threat of death when discharging his gun.

The warrant comes just one week after a lawsuit was filed by the Hester family in Wayne County Circuit Court alleging that Khoury acted without justification and with excessive force in response to the fight.

The suit also names the Romulus Police Department and Police Chief Donald Flood.

Friday's warrant stunned the police department as well as city officials who were anxiously awaiting the prosecutor's findings.

"It's got to be a traumatic moment in anybody's life," Dennis Davidson, the Romulus community relations director said shortly after the news of the warrant was released.

"One minute you're a police officer on duty and the next minute you're being charged with murder."

Mayor Beverly McNally said that the city would "presume that our officer is innocent until proven guilty..."

Flood declined to be specific about the use of deadly force by police officers and said only that his officers, like other Michigan law enforcement officers, are taught the uses of firearms in special police academy courses. Certification and review sessions on firearm use are required by the state for police personnel as well.

Second-degree murder is murder without premeditation but with malice. Khoury could face one year to life in prison if convicted of the charge in addition to a mandatory two-year prison sentence for felony use of a firearm.

Murder warrant shakes confidence of force

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

The investigation and subsequent arrest warrant issued last week by the prosecutor's office surrounding Police Officer James Khoury's shooting of a 25-year-old Romulus resident may only be the beginning for the two-year veteran of the force.

What follows in the wake of the incident that led Khoury to kill James Hester could essentially decide the fate of law enforcement officers for a long time, at least in the City of Romulus, according to the sentiment expressed by both officers and experts.

Robert Trojanowicz, who holds a doctorate in criminal justice and is director of the Michigan State University's criminal justice program said in an interview Monday that there is in today's society an increasing focus on the use of deadly force by police officers. Also considered a controversial topic is the employment of high speed chases during the pursuit of a suspected criminal which is rendering officers virtually immobile when it comes to dealing with instantaneous deadly force decisions.

The use of deadly force puts the police officer in an "almost no-win position", Trojanowicz said.

"On the one hand, the officer is expected to enforce the laws and on the other hand, he is expected to use appropriate force not more than what is necessary to handle the situation," he explained.

The danger lies in what the officer determines is appropriate force and it is in that realm of possibilities that problems exist.

There is a myth among the population, Trojanowicz said, that police officers are 'karate experts', that they can disarm an assailant without the use of a weapon.

"That, in fact, is not the case," he said.

Trojanowicz instructs students enrolled in advanced degree programs at the university. Specific technical skills or defensive tactics are not taught. Instead, students are exposed to the theories of law enforcement.

"We help (students) become astute decision-makers," he said.

The Khoury case, according to Trojanowicz, is somewhat unique except for the one or two cases in Michigan involving officers being charged with a crime in the line of duty.

In Officer Khoury's case, he explained, he was "damned if he did, damned if he didn't" use deadly force.

"If he doesn't employ deadly force, he is second guessed after the incident," said the instructor. "And the second guessing sometimes lasts for days or even months. Whereas the decision to use deadly force takes place in seconds. If he hesitates and does not use appropriate force, the assailant may become a danger to both the officer and the public. The officer would then be criticized by the public."

The delicate issue of use of force is hard to reconcile when the decision made must be instantaneous and the aftermath is often lingering, Trojanowicz explained.

Training officers receive plays a large role in an officer's assessment of a situation, he said.

Specific courses in use of firearms and repeated qualifying examinations are administered to law enforcement officers under the law.

According to a spokesperson at the Detroit Police Academy, cadets are instructed that in the advent of having to use a firearm, they are to shoot to kill and not to merely injure.

"Firearms are to be used in a manner of deadly force," according to an officer at the academy. "That's why it's supposed to be a last resort."

Specific instructions are detailed in the Detroit Police Department Manual, a booklet that provides rules and regulations for officers in or out of Detroit.

Reasoning behind the theory of deadly force lies in the danger that could result if police officers were required to simply aim at a smaller target, for example, at a hand or even a knee, a situation that would certainly injure the assailant but not invoke death.

Stray bullets, or even a missed target, could endanger passers-by and cause greater trouble than subduing the suspect, according to a Romulus officer.

"The police officer ultimately has to make that decision whether their life, their partner's life or a citizen's life is in danger," Trojanowicz ex-

Buhholz, a former resident at the center and McDonald, a member of the U. S. Army, will live on an army base once back from the honeymoon, informed spokeswoman Vicki Lindsey. Crime increase recorded for '84

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Major crimes committed in the city in 1984 are up from the previous year according to figures released this month by the Federal Bureau of Investigations Uniform Crime Report section in Washington.

The figures, released once a year, indicate that in eight major areas of crime reported by the state police to the FBI's Washington, D.C. bureau, a substantial jump was noted from 1983 figures.

According to FBI figures, two murders, 20 forcible rapes, 74 robberies, 199 aggravated assaults, 610 burglaries, 1,357 larcenies, 409 motor vehicle thefts and 50 arsons were reported to the Romulus police department in 1984.

According to FBI statistics, the figures represent an 18.3 percent increase in indexed crimes.

These figures include only those reports requested by the FBI-indexed crimes—and do not include other categories of crime such as non-aggravated assaults, fraud, embezzlement, vandalism, narcotic, sex offenses not including rape and other crime categories.

The index crimes are reported monthly by local agencies to the Michigan State Police. The state police department in turn sends the figures to the FBI for analysis.

The number of crimes reported in 1984 totalled 5,576, a figure that includes both indexed and unindexed crimes, according to William Cahill of the Michigan State Police.

Of the 5,576 reports, only 2,721 are used by the FBI for statistical analysis as indexed crimes.

These figures are not to be confused, Cahill said, with arrest figures for the same year.

According to Cahill, reported crimes and arrests made as a result are two separate categories. The FBI analyzes only crimes reported.

Arrests made by the Romulus police department totalled 228 for those crimes reported.

Those figures—one arrest for murder, five rape, 13 robbery, 80 burglary, 102 larceny, 25 auto theft and two arsons are not reflected in the 18.3 percent increase reported for Romulus.

The increase in the city's crime rate as reported earlier this month by The Detroit Free Press raised the ire of city officials who claim that the 18.3 figure is inflated.

According to Cahill, both that figure and the 15.3 percent increase released by the Michigan State Police can be attributed to the fact that the FBI, in compiling 1983 statistics, last year did not include arsons reported.

The state police figure reflects the inclusion of arson reports for both 1983 and 1984, a step that caused the discrepancy and led city officials to believe an error was made.

In essence, the FBI figure would reflect a higher increase in crime, Cahill said, if the bureau this year included arson in the analysis.

"We don't feel there is a substantial increase in crime," Police Chief Donald Flood said. "We're filing more reports as compared to previous years. I think that only means we're getting better." Flood attributed the difference in classifying certain crimes as one reason for the discrepancy in 1984 and 1983 figures.

Some departments, he said, place a particular criminal act under one category while another department may consider the act a different type of crime.

A legitimate concern, Harper Wilson of the FBI's crime reporting division said, but one that is addressed by the bureau.

A handbook released for police department use sets forth all "criteria and rules" to be used to assign crimes under categories, he said.

"If the department's following the precise definition and reporting it as such, then there should be no discrepancy," Wilson reported.

"In this country, with 50 different sets of criminal statutes, we came up with the idea of 'uniform' reporting and that spells out exactly what a larceny is, for example," he said.

The Uniform Crime Report is used by federal, state and local governments to gauge criminal activity in different localities.

The figures reported for Romulus do not include activity at Metro Airport.

For a period ranging nine months in 1984, Michigan State Police reported 75 indexed crimes and 316 unindexed. Of those reported, only one arrest for indexed and 50 for unindexed crimes were made, Cahill said.

All systems go for Concorde

By CHRISTINE RIZK
ANP Staff Writer

Residents will have a unique opportunity to see one of the wonders of modern airlight when the Concorde jet lands in Metro airport Aug. 23.

And although the landing of the controversial jet has raised eyebrows among some city officials, the event promises to be a relatively smooth and "spectacular" display, according to Metro officials.

Two separate landings, 9:45 a.m. and 10:15 a.m., will be conducted near the international terminal for the plane that is aerodynamic and so fast that it can cruise at 500-600 miles per hour.

It is its speed that has been the craft's biggest downfall, at least in the eyes of residents over whom it flies.

Recently, Romulus council members expressed concern about the Concorde landing in Metro. They recalled the controversy associated with the debut of the plane over 10 years ago and felt that they should consider the noise as well as the damage that might occur as a result of its low flight.

The Concorde in flight breaks the sound barrier, resulting in a ominous sonic boom.

Metro officials, as well as Federal Aviation Administration officials, assure that the problems formerly associated with the Concorde flight have been ironed out and that flight today is comparable to any other commercial aircraft.

That is except for the prohibitive cost of flying on the supersonic transport. Estimates, provided by British Airways, the airline conducting the Concorde's flight to Detroit, suggest near-outlandish rates—$5,000 to fly from London to New York. There are no estimates available for domestic travel since the airline only runs overseas flights.

The landing in Metro is sponsored by a travel group known as the Nomads who have made arrangements with British Airways to allow spectators a closer look at the infamous craft.

The landing will be the first time Michigan will have received the Concorde since formerly Congress, as well as many airports, imposed restrictions that prevented the plane from landing.

Laws regarding the Concorde regulated noise, speed and landing procedures of the plane and until recently, pilots were allowed to land only in isolated airports.

Apparently, according to Metro officials, the plane no longer violates any type of local laws.

"They (pilots) come in at subsonic (normal) speed like all other aircraft," said Lou Sugo, director of public relations at Metro. "The craft is compatible with other aircraft now and is not any noisier than any other."

Sugo said the event was a "darn good" opportunity for people to view the plane and that the beauty of the plane in flight hopefully will "mitigate any adverse feelings" associated with the aircraft.

British Airways Deborah Bernstein expressed similar sentiment regarding the aircraft's flight and promised that the Concorde will "tip toe quickly and quietly" out to the Atlantic where it will resume supersonic flight.

"We haven't had any problems at all," she said recently. "And we've been going literally all over the country."

One recent landing that should dispel any reservations about the plane's flight was in Oshkosh, Wisconsin last month.

Officials there reported a safe, pleasant and exciting landing in an Oshkosh airport.

"And if the Concorde can land in Oshkosh, I don't see any problem here," said Leo Berrie of the flight standards division of the FAA.

dan's dogs

by dan a morris

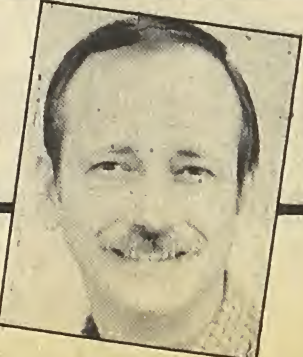

Editor's note: Dan Morris has been a professional dog trainer for more than 20 years and has worked in all phases of dog training. If you have a specific problem, his advice is available by writing to him care of Associated Newspapers Inc., P.O. Box 578, Wayne, Michigan 48184. He will reply in this column.

Putting your dog through guard training gives you the ultimate control over your dog. It enables you to STOP the bite!

This sounds contradictory because the common impression of guard training is a dog trained to rip and tear and froth at the mouth whenever someone approached. Just the opposite is true!

A properly trained guard dog is friendly toward everyone, can be approached by children as well as adults and has a solid temperament and gentle manner. He is so well trained he doesn't have to prove his power. He has been taught to EVALUATE situations and people. He does nothing unless provoked and even then will be able to be called off should the situation change. In other words, perhaps a distant relative enters the house (with the owner's permission) intending no harm to occupants or possessions. The dog should evaluate this situation and do no more than bark and/or sniff. When well-trained, the dog will automatically know everything is okay.

The untrained dog, or even one TRAINED IMPROPERLY, could charge, bite, knock down or otherwise hurt an innocent visitor and the owner of that type dog would be liable for damages, medical bills, etc.

The properly trained guard dog has developed a bond with his master. This bond is more important than the ordinary and expected relationship which develops between most dogs and humans because it is based on mutual respect and (almost) blind obedience. This fine-honed animal will protect at all costs and deter the most dangerous of assailants. But should the master know something the dog does not and need to call the dog off, the respect built between animal and man will enable the master to STOP THE BITE. The improperly trained dog would never stop in mid-air and would continue his attack without being able to be called off.

The guard dog trained to evaluate has gone through basic and advanced obedience. He is highly-educated, secure and confident, much like a master of karate. If you've had any contact or experience with the karate master, you will remember he has a calmness and confidence unobtainable by ordinary day-to-day stress and is not easily provoked because he is aware of what he is able to do and has no need to prove himself to anyone. The same holds true for the guard dog.

So when someone mentions their dog is guard trained, you can feel far more comfortable than with a dog unschooled and, more often than not, uncontrollable.

Road repairs continue

The Michigan Department of Transportation informed Romulus officials that extensive repairs are scheduled to begin on exit and entrance ramps on I-275. The interchanges affected are Eureka, Sibley, West, Will Carleton, and Carleton-Rockwood roads.

To provide reasonable access during the work, the department will only close ramps serving a single direction of travel at a time and only at every other interchange.

Dumpster use extended

The city council approved a measure that provides the use of city dumpsters to residents throughout the month with no cost to users.

Originally, the plan to provide free dumpster usage extended from May through July. Because of heavy volume of dumping and the willingness of the part of citizens to clean up, the Department of Public Works suggested continuing the program.

Robert Plank, the director of the DPW, informed the council that garbage pick-up and city clean-up was a lot less when use of the city's dumpsters was provided free of charge.

Gordonier Park development planned

The city council has given the go-ahead for a proposed park, to be named Gordonier Park, on one acre of land west of Gordonier School. Steps are being taken to upgrade the area and future plans include, according to Recreation Director Debbie Dick, an ice rink and tennis court.

plained. "That final decision is up to him."

But the ramifications that ensue once a decision is made is what is causing so much discourse among law enforcement officials.

Should an officer be held accountable every time he administers deadly force for the death of the assailant or should the use of deadly force be discontinued, they are asking?

That area, according to Trojanowicz, needs to be addressed by legal scholars and laws should be written more specifically, he said, so that they protect both the public and give the officer enough guidelines.

"No police officer in his or her right mind wants to make an inappropriate decision," he said. "They don't want the legal ramifications for the department or themselves.

of the officer," Trojanowicz explained. "We have to encourage citizens not to aggravate a potentially violent situation by harrassing the officer or by not getting involved in the altercation themselves."

Michigan laws are very specific about the use of deadly force. A police officer or citizen must be in immediate danger to warrant use of force, according to guidelines set forth under the law.

More importantly, public awareness needs to be stressed, he suggested, to help an officer make a difficult decisions under very stressful situations.

"The public has to understand the role and limitations

Calling for backup officers for an officer in trouble or even getting a description of the person involved in the negative situation can play an important role in relieving the stress the officer is under.

The administration has never had any "complaints regarding Concorde flights nor any major alarms".

"The plane lands in Dulles International Airport everyday. It hasn't shook the President's windows yet," Berrie said.

The public is not encouraged to visit the international terminal but instead is advised to travel to the west service drive at the airport near Goddard Road where a 25-acre site will be available for parking, Sugo said. The area in front of parked cars will be designated for "the best seats in the house."

Only one word of caution from Sugo--spectators will want to bring with them their cameras for the event which may include an air performance by the Concorde.

Chance of a lifetime

I was reminded recently of a comment I once made regarding my father. I said, as nearly everyone has, that I was amazed at how his wisdom increased in direct proportion to my age.

That brought to mind my contention that the willingness to take risks and to be flexible seem to be a function directly relative to age. The younger set in any time period tend to be far more adventurous and daring in all pursuits than do their older counterparts.

Regardless of the playing field, whether sports, business, politics or relationships, those who dare, chance and risk seem to be mentally young although not always chronologically still a youngster. The willingness to be flexible in our thinking also tends to belong to those who "think young." Conversely, the unwillingness to accept change and to risk are signs of hardening of the attitudes.

What we must all be reminded of is that the only thing that won't change in this life is the inevitability of continuing change. Every day we see the ramifications and variations of the risk-flexibility phenomenon. Those two elements of the human psyche are, to be sure, joined from necessity.

Consider a high-risk sport such as sky diving. Suppose an air-diver takes the plunge from an aircraft only to find that his main chute does not open. To become rigid in thinking, refusing to be flexible and exercise an option to pull the reserve chute because "I've never had to do it before" or because the main chute is "supposed to open" is obviously foolishness. Yet, our fellow passengers on the airplane of life take such nonsensical positions on everyday matters.

My dad used to remind me frequently that although we should know what we believe in and are endeavoring to achieve, we should always be able and willing to "swing with it" as he often was. He called this one correctly, too.

I was in a meeting recently in which a presentation was being made by prospective investment managers. Most of them dwelled on the point of the various levels of risk in the investment game. Picture, if you will, an axis with the two crossing lines, one representing risk and the other benefit. An investor can achieve high benefit at a high risk, or a low gain at a low risk. You, of course can have a limited loss at limited risk even a high loss at a high risk.

Most of life is like that. What I was reminded of, in particular, is that there is limited merit to risking just for the sake of doing it. The young are willing to risk the agony of defeat while pursuing the thrill of victory.

Unless our motives are suicidal, we usually perceive tempting fate by risking total destruction as unwise, healthy and counterproductive. There are, of course, many things in life for which it would be worth laying it all on the line. The life of a loved one, a cause or principle so basic to our existence that death would be preferable to defeat, one's country or to preserve one's own life.

As we grow older and accumulate possessions, we feel we have more to lose in any risk. As youth passes us by we no longer have the time left to invest in starting over if it all goes wrong. With age, then, comes the unwillingness to dare to be different, or to try something different for fear that it might go badly.

Too many lose their perspective. They lose sight of the fact that life is in the living, not in the accumulation. Possessions are only the way to keep score.

I don't encourage anyone to join the bomb squad as a hobby, go to Vegas and risk their life savings on a roll of the dice...or take up sky diving. What I do advocate is a youthful, almost childlike willingness to venture into new experiences risking embarrassment or humiliation or even limited financial setbacks in order to learn and grow as a human being and an individual. All too soon we will all be spending our remaining days benched in the game of life, probably being spoon-fed in a nursing home trying not to dribble.

Let's enjoy the gift of life and health, play an aggressive game that will be stimulating to ourselves and an inspiration to those who will follow.

See you next week.

Cookies, Christians and an apology

Will the real Steve Roe please stand up?

We'd also appreciate it if John Pienton, Ron Case, Darius Jones, Jennifer Daniel and Chris Green would announce themselves properly.

These unfortunate individuals fell victim during the past weeks to our new computer system . . . or rather the human failings of those of us attempting to cope with our new machines.

Pity Steve Roe. He was one of our first victims. Steve is the secretary of the building committee at the Methodist Church in Wayne. The church is in the process of a development project smack in the center of the city. They will be completing a 10-year project to modernize one square block and we did an extensive, page three story about the progress and plans. As the chairman of the building committee was unavailable for comment, we interviewed a reluctant Steve, and he provided us with a great deal of valuable information, history and the architectural renderings of the project.

He went out of his way to give credit for the project to all those involved, and was, in short, a reporter's dream of an interview . . . articulate, knowledgeable, patient and cooperative. To express our gratitude to him for his invaluable help, we misspelled his name repeatedly throughout the article . . . and by quoting him, evidently caused some extremely bruised egos at the church.

The bruised egos made themselves known by sending us hate mail. Steve, however, never even complained. He took it all in stride, apparently, and was grateful for the publicity the church received and nonplussed by any embarrassment we may have caused him with our error. Steve, it would appear, is a real gentleman along with his other virtues and a true Christian. The author of the hate mail leaves some question as to that accolade, however.

As if this weren't enough, last week we instituted a new light-hearted, tongue-in-cheek-feature titled, "You be the judge". This human-interest story utilized several of our best newspaper carriers who taste-tested national brands of chocolate chip cookies for us.

These young people, too, were terrific. They showed up on time, didn't complain about the number of cookies they had to consume, were cheerful, helpful and super cooperative. We rewarded them by placing the wrong names under five of their photos. Not one of them complained.

We phoned each of them to explain, and the ones we reached expressed the same type of attitude they had during the tasting. Parents laughed along with us, kids moaned but understood and all were surprised at the degree of our embarrassment and concern about the error.

These are nice people. We are very, very concerned about these errors and any others that may occur. We know exactly how and why they happened and will never allow those particular circumstances to develop again. While you probably don't care, the explanation is simply that with the transformation to new production procedures utilizing and depending upon computer performance we have been confused, exceptionally busy and distracted. We're all still learning, have a multitude of new procedures to concentrate on and, additionally, are short staffed due to well-earned vacations.

STEVE ROE

Those are not excuses, but explanations. It is important to us that we explain these errors and admit them. Important because we want you to know how much we sincerely do care about accuracy and credibility. We work very, very hard on those two items, but occasionally we do make mistakes. Those errors, however, are not made with any malice or lack of concern for total accuracy. We are sometimes provided with incorrect information . . . and sometimes, the blame lies directly with us. In these cases, we are the culprits and we owe not only the people involved, but all our readers, our most sincere apologies.

We offer those to you now. We most sincerely regret these errors. We hope the people involved understand the depth of our remorse regarding the mistakes. And . . . perhaps more importantly, we hope all our readers understand our concern for accuracy and our deep dedication to providing the most correct, accurate and credible newspaper possible.

Governor's veto blasted

To the Editor

With his veto of HB 4715, Governor Blanchard has shown utter disregard for the interests of Michigan motorists. All of us who buy auto insurance will pay the price.

The legislation, developed to amend Michigan's controversial Essential Insurance Act, would have:

1. assured continuing availability of auto insurance for all Michigan residents,
2. allowed insurance rates for many suburban and out-state motorists to be lower than under existing law,
3. reduced the percentage of annual rate increases for most Detroiters,
4. enhanced freedom of choice for all consumers, and
5. helped resolve Michigan's severe auto theft problem.

Members of the Michigan Senate and House of Representatives had approved this measure by a substantial margin. Yet, Blanchard chose to ignore their judgment. He also (See Page 5A)

Now they're cookin!

It was fun, and educational, last week when celebrity chef Larry Janes offered cooking classes for kids at Westland Center. The week-long sessions helped the youngsters learn the basics in the kitchen and photographer (and gourmet cook) Lothar Konietzko caught them learning the finer points of pie dough. It was a bit messy...and a little discouraging until the young students got the knack of shaping their creation...but Chef Larry reports that everyone, including the teacher, had a good time.

chose to ignore problems which created need for such legislation, as identified in a recent analysis of the Essential Insurance Act, prepared by Thomas L. Wenck, Michigan State University.

Consequences of the current dilemma, to which Dr. Wenck refers, are already being experienced by Michigan motorists. And now, unfortunately, legislation which would have helped resolve these problems has been rejected by the Governor.

As the situation worsens in the future (and it most certainly will), it will be interesting to learn how he justifies this action.

News of this "Super Pill" is literally sweeping the country. It's called Amitol and there has never been anything quite like it before.

"Flushes Calories Right Out Of Your Body"

What makes Amitol so thrilling and unique is its reported ability to flush calories right out of your body. Amitol is completely safe — it contains no drugs whatsoever. Its ingredients are derived solely from the Konjac root which grows primarily in Northern Japan.

Why the Konjac root? It has been used in Japan for over 1600 years to produce rapid and natural weight-loss!

Japanese studies verify that Konjac root actually prevents fat producing calories from being absorbed into your system. They say it does this by surrounding much of the fats, proteins and carbohydrates you have eaten with a protective viscous coating which is then gently flushed out of your system. And according to Japanese research this produces absolutely amazing results.

And who can disagree! Amitol (although brand new to this country) is already being called by many people, "the most exciting weight-loss breakthrough of the century." In fact, everywhere there are reports of easy and fast weight-loss from formerly overweight people (in all walks of life) who are now slim, trim, and attractive again.

Company Offers Extraordinary Guarantee

You now can purchase Amitol direct from the North American distributor, and it comes with an extraordinary guarantee.

If you place your order now and then follow the simple instructions for a period of 30 days, you must be completely satisfied with the dramatic visible results or just return the empty container and Dyna Labs will immediately send back your entire purchase price. This guarantee applies regardless of your age or current weight level. What could be better than that! It's just that simple. If you've tried to lose weight before and failed you no longer have an excuse. Amitol is available, it's easy and it works without dieting!

Matched pair

Twenty-four sets of twins and one set of triplets highlighted the Oakwood Hospital Neonatal Intensive Care Unit's (NICU) second annual "Graduation Picnic," sponsored by the hospital's NICU nursing and neonatology staffs July 27 at Dearborn's Levagood Park. More than 660 people, including 207 NICU graduates ranging in age from 6 weeks to 6 years old, attended the special reunion. Among those twins attending were 2-year-old Tristan and Trent Maddix of Romulus, while Sharon McMahon, R.N., assistant head nurse, NICU, shares their fun. Proud parents sought out nurses who cared for their infants while nurses, in turn, had an opportunity to receive personal updates on their progress. Babies who spend time in the NICU are seriously or critically ill based on several factors, including premature birth, low birth weight, and respiratory problems. The picnic lunch was supplied by Oakwood's Dietary department through contributions, and the Dearborn Police Department furnished entertainment with a ventriloquist show.

THIS IS FLEA SEASON

Declare war now on these pesky pests. Come in and let us arm you with the ammunition you'll need to win the war. We have flea shampoos, flea dips, home foggers, carpet sprays, yard and kennel dust, everything to eliminate fleas from your pet, from you home, from your premises. Note — we recommend fogging and carpet sprays for this reason: A flea collar or an occasional flea shampoo serves only as a temporary solution to the flea infestation, as most often the female flea will jump off the animal and burrow into the carpeting or cracks and crevices to lay eggs (up to 3000!) thus resulting in a continuous cycle of reinfestation. We feature the Zodiac 4 Step program for the elimination of this cycle. With this coupon receive 10% off all flea control remedies.

Ambusher

Flat Rock to extend its '85 race season

Flat Rock Speedway will extend its 1985 racing season through the entire month of September, according to Ron Drager, assistant General Manager and Public Relations Director of the track.

The schedule will include racing action every Saturday evening and a special Sunday afternoon event.

Saturday, September 7 is the date for the third and final round of the WCXI-Grand Auto Parts Michigan Challenge Cup. The Late Model series has proven to be a very competitive one, with six different feature winners in the six Challenge Cup main events.

A dash, qualifying heats and a big 50 lap feature will highlight the third round of the series. $1000 and a share of the $18,890 in contingency and lap money awards awaits the victor. More awards will be distributed as the over-all champion is crowned also on Sept. 7.

A full program of Street

Stocks and Randy Sweet's attempt to lower his quarter-mile world record will also be part of the racing program on Sept. 7.

The special Sunday afternoon event will take place on September 8, with the Enduro 250 providing the action on the Flat Rock one-quarter mile oval. Junk-yard bound cars will compete in a non-stop 250 lap event, with the winner taking home a cool $1000. The July Flat Rock Enduro saw 117 cars start the event in rows of three abreast from a standing start. Racing will begin at 2 p.m. on Sunday.

Mother Nature has played havoc with the Michigan Challenge Cup events so far this season. With that in mind, the Saturday, Sept. 14 date will be used as a rain-date for round number three. If the rain-date is needed, a full program of Late Models and Street Stocks are on tap at Flat Rock for Sept. 14.

The third Saturday of the month, Sept. 21, marks the date for the 6th annual National Street Stock Championships. The event has been pushed back one week from its originally-scheduled date.

Over 60 Street Stock cars and drivers are expected to compete for the top prize of $1,000 for the 50 lap event. A dash, heats and qualifying events are also scheduled. As a special attraction, a 50-lap event for the Strictly Stocks (Enduro-type cars) will be added to the National Street Stock Championships on Sept. 21.

Flat Rock's final event for the 1985 is slated for Sat. Sept. 28. This date will serve as a rain-date for the Street Stock Nationals. If this is not needed as a rain-date a special evening of racing will be slated for the 1985 finale. Details will be announced in the next few weeks.

The Saturday evening programs will have the same starting times as all Flat Rock Saturday events. Time trials will begin at 6 p.m., with racing at 7:30. The track is located one mile south of Flat Rock on Telegraph Road (U.S. 24).

Bryk, Gnas

With approximately a 20-point cushion over their closest rivals, Ron Bryk and Frank Gnas can afford to take it easy in the Romulus Recreation Men's Wednesday night golf league.

Bryk and Gnas have amassed 202 points to lead a 16-team field.

Trailing far behind the pacesetters are John Hinds and Joe Nash, who have 184. They are followed by Brent Hopson and Gerald Budd (182), Tom Zbikowski and Tutt Mach also with 182.

Other scores include: Harmon Goetz and Mike Eberle, with 178; Pat Hogan and Larry Mach, 177; Bill Eastman and George Sparr, with 177; Dick Butz and Jim Oliver, 171, and Don Brown and Jim VanHauter, with 168.

Other scores include: Dennis Davidson and Matt Raftary (164), Dave Paul and Mack Stillwagon (159), Max Aicher and Al Borio (152), Ron Mach and John Lemanski (150), Lee Silvey and Don Flood (133), Ron Dubsky and Dick Niedermeyer (133) and Dennis Felice and Ron Collins (129).

Thornton is back

Among the 108 football candidates who Coach Tom Beck of Grand Valley State greeted on Sunday is a former Westland John Glenn standout.

Craig Thornton, a defensive back, is listed on the Lakers' grid roster.

Beck, who will be starting his first season at GVSC will welcomed a group of 35 lettermen back from last year's squad which failed to find their way into the victory column a year ago.

Playoff champ Sluggers win Canton title

In convincing style, the Sluggers reign as the Canton Township Class 'A' playoff champion.

The Sluggers earned the crown with a lopsided 10-0 victory over the Cash Chargers.

Manager Rob Hill and John Slavin's women's softball team used timely hitting from Spigarelli who collected three for four, including a home run and 4 RBIs; Donna Goodrick, who had two hits in three appearances at the plate and three runs batted it, and Debbie Cesare who accounted for two hits and two runs batted in.

In claiming the tournament title, the Sluggers scored victories over Accent Signs, as well as Cash Chargers.

The playoff victory came in the wake of the Sluggers impressive first place finish in the Canton-Plymouth Women's "A" League.

Among the leaders

Also coming away from the 1985 City Golf Championships with trophies were Mike Bailey (center), Jim Morton (at left) and Michael Brown (at right). Bailey won the first flight Wayne competition with 36-hole score of 153, easily defeating Jim Morton who had 164, one stroke better than Brown's finish. The two-day city championships were conducted at Fellows Creek Golf Course.

Westland golfers, who made up approximately half of the field for the 26th annual City Golf Championships, had among their first flight winners Steve Radomski (center) who shot a 153 for the 36-hole competitions at Fellows Creek. Clancy Cebula (at left) finished runner-up in the flight, five strokes behind the flight champ, while Chuck Henry wound up third with 162.

winner's hits while Dale Budak homered. Winning pitcher Dale Jucek gave up 14 hits, three each to Jim Gross and McBride. McBride and Mark Collins each had four RBIs.

Landis rallied from a 5-2 deficit with six runs in the third and went on to defeat Sun-n-Snow 11-7 thanks to the efforts of Matt Percy who collected three hits. Dave Raimer and Collins split four hits apiece. Conrad Jager latched on to three hits and Paul DeBuyscher had a triple and a couple of singles off of Raimer who was the winning pitcher.

In their earlier confrontation, Kerr's emerged the victor 14-9 over Landis as Budak and Tony Triani each had three hits. Budak slammed a homer and collected four RBIs. Also turning in with three hits was Greg Crawford who had a double and a pair of singles.

Dwayne Parker had two hits. Percy again paced Landis as he laced three hits, including a triple. Ed Eddings chipped in a single and a triple.

Bohemian Brothers won a thriller from Sun-n-Snow, 6-5, as the winners put four decisive runs on the board in the fourth inning then broke a 5-all deadlock with a run in the sixth.

Floyd Lalonde and Tony Rohde had two-run doubles and Terry Magnuson had a single and a triple for the winners. Dale Lalonde, who got credit for the victory, gave up 10 hits, yielding three each to Harry Hunter and Conrad Jager. Dave Frazier checked in with a two-run single.

The Bohemians and Landis had to go into an extra inning before Landis pulled out a narrow 11-10 victory over their arch rivals. Landis collected a total of 19 hits off of losing pitcher Dale Lalonde and three of those went the distance. Gary Hardwick had a single and a homer and three RBIs, and Matt Percy checked in with a pair of RBIs thanks to a homer and a single, while Todd Wallace had three singles. Jim Gross and Mark Collins had three and two hits, respectively. Lalonde finished the night with three RBIs and a pair of singles off of winner, Raimer who also gave up three hits each to Scott Conniche and Tony Rohde. In the meantime over in Division I, Captain Nemos, the reigning league champ, received a surprise in the form of an 8-7 setback at the hands of Bailey's. Nemos wasted outstanding hitting efforts by Larry Chasno and Mel Allen who had three hits and three and two RBIs, respectively. Losing pitcher Jay Barton served up four-baggers to Stan Brown, who was the winning pitcher, Terry Yackley and Jim Izeluk.

Local actor saves 'Dolly'

Westland is represented on the professional theatrical stage at the Birmingham Theatre where Leo Dagnault of Westland is currently appearing in "Hello, Dolly!" with Patsy Garrett. Dagnault's audition earlier this year for the production of Dolly proved unfruitful and he was employed locally in a non-dramatic type of job. Approximately five days before opening of the local production, Leo was informed that one of the members of the dancing troupe "had left the cast," and would be ready to go on in five days of rehearsal. Those who know Dagnault know he didn't hesitate.

Dagnault said that "the cast of Dolly is absolutely terrific and very helpful. Patsy Garrett is a most friendly, caring person and it is just a joy to be in a show in which she stars." According to Dagnault, "the cast is having a terrific time with the summertime performances for the next two weeks."

The Robert L. Moloney Production Company Summer Stage offering has little of a positive nature to offer the audience in "Hello, Dolly!" however. The only saving grace of the current production is the performance of the six waiters who knock themselves out in their atomically energized performance. Dagnault is one of these six terrific members of the cast. From an incompetent performance by Patsy Garrett to the cheap stage settings and costumes, "Hello, Dolly!" goes downhill with the exception of the six marvelous dancers.

Those wishing to see Dagnault live on stage, however, 2 p.m., Wednesday and Sunday performances are scheduled and 8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday for evening shows. Prices are $7, matinees; $9, Wednesday and Thursday evenings; and $11 for Friday and Saturday nights. Tickets are available at all Ticket World outlets, at the Birmingham box office and with MC/Visa at (313) 423-6666. Group sales at (313) 644-3576.

Dagnault, following the end of the current Dolly on Aug. 25, will start touring with the Prince Street Players in the title role of "Pinnocchio." According to Leo, their winter tour includes Chicago, New

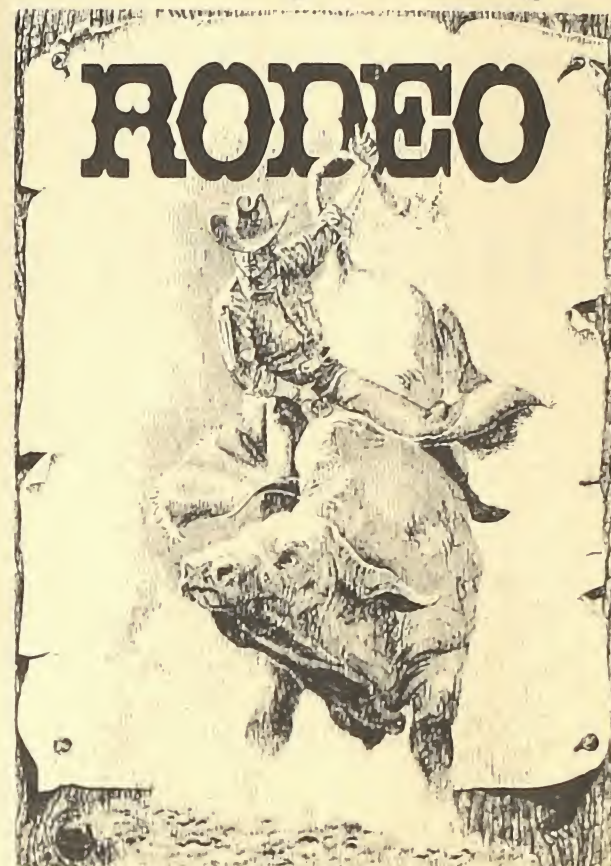

Patsy Garrett as 'Dolly'

York, Texas, New Hampshire and Florida. The "Pinnocchio" company leaves around Sept. 25 for the 6-month cross country run.

Not a thing to wear

Costume director solves cast's problem

One hundred miles from here, Anne-Marie Roberts of Canton is searching frantically for proper every-day and formal attire for six prostitutes.

Not only does she have these costumes to furnish, she has to dress a six-man football (and dancing) team in different out-

Anne-Marie Roberts

Spotlighters choose officers

Debra Polich-Swain will serve as president of the Spotlight Players' Board of Directors for the 1985-1986 drama season. Assisting her as fellow executive members of the Spotlight Players Board will be Mary Cobello of Canton, vice-president; Vicki L. Cravens of Westland, secretary; Carla R. Lenhoff of Westland, treasurer; Russ Holderness of Westland, business and production; Ben Kemp of Belleville, activities and Nancy Mounsey of Westland, house and tickets.

In the second professionally outstanding Tibbits summer musical production, Anne-Marie had to costume "South Pacific" natives, members of the Seabees and Navy, nurses at a hospital - a total of more than 40 costumes with many of the roles demanding costume changes. "Musicals are especially demanding costume-wise," Roberts explained, "and the wear and tear on them because of physical action requires repairing after each performance."

Roberts is a junior at Eastern Michigan University where she is working under the tutelage of Kathrine Holkeboer, Eastern's costume professor in Communications and Theatre Arts. Besides these musical shows, she also has clothed actors in the comedy "Charley's Aunt" and in Neil Simon's

"Barefoot in the Park." The season ends with the Aug. 31 production of "Best Little Whorehouse in Texas."

Conference call

Small business owners prepare to meet

Small business issues will be in the spotlight as the first of the statewide conferences called to prepare for the 1986 White House Conference on Small Business begins this month.

Throughout the country, small business owners will gather to express concerns and share ideas about improving the ability of small firms to compete in state and national economies. The Michigan meeting is scheduled for Sept. 20 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn. Small business owners, partners or corporate officers are urged to attend and take part in defining the issues that are important to small business survival and growth, according to John Galles, executive director of the Small Business Association of Michigan.

"All persons who own or operate small firms in Michigan should make time to attend and contribute to the success of this conference," Galles said. The state conference participants will elect delegates to the White House Conference planned for Aug. 17-21 next year in Washington, D.C., Galles explained. The White House Conference will increase public awareness of the essential contribution of small business to state and national economies, explained Jack Courtemanche, conference executive director. The gathering will identify the needs of small business owners and examine the status of women and minority-owned businesses. In addition, according to Courtemanche, the conference will determine methods of assisting small business in carrying out its role as the nation's top job creator and develop specific and comprehensive recommendations for executive and legislative action.

Small business owners in this area who have some background on the issues to be discussed are needed to serve as moderators, issue resource persons and recorders. An orientation meeting for these individuals is slated for 5 to 6 p.m. Sept. 19 at the Hyatt.

The delegates to the state conference will participate in issue workshops, a general closing session and a presentation of the workshop recommendations. Delegates elected to the national conference will be announced prior to adjournment.

The conference is designed to serve as a conduit for grassroots concerns to be channeled to the President and Congress and will include an open forum to allow participants to discuss specific, local or un-

If you want to get a good idea of what the roaring 20's were all about, you'll get your chance on Friday, Sept. 6 at Henry Ford Museum. A roaring 20's dinner and dance party is being organized by Nicki Nowak of Belleville. The "twenty three-skidoo" type of affair includes a tour of the museum to help set the proper mood for the gala that follows. The cost is $22.50 per person by reserve ticket only. Call Nicki at 461-6077 and tell 'em Jimmy sent you.

Speaking of parties... Wayne County Community College Western Campus in Belleville is having an open house on Saturday, Aug. 24. Among the scheduled events will be a one mile "fun run" at 9 am and a 10K run beginning at 9:30 am. There will be prizes for the winners and free T-shirts to the first 100 entrants. Entry forms are available at the campus and at Belleville Chamber of Commerce office. There will also be hot air balloon rides, food, entertainment, children's activities, facility tours and registration for fall classes. WCCC is located at 9555 Haggerty Road just off I-94 and I-275.

There's a whole lotta shakin' going on at Malarkey's Pub 7020 N. Wayne Road in Westland. Construction on the new Moon Room is nearing the half-way point. The all-glass roof will provide a neat view of the heavens over a hot toddy this fall.

New business coming to Garden City: Soft-House Computer Center 32643 Ford Road just East of Venoy. Larry Berman son of Arnold Berman owner of Ajax Floor Covering, has a strong background and interest in computers. After carefully studying the retail competition in the area, Larry expects to successfully compete on two levels: Firstly, to extend a more personal interest and support to the area computer customer and secondly, to provide a stronger inventory of parts and add-ons at competitive prices. Soft-House Computer Center is expected to open next week. Talk with Larry at 422-6760.

The Fed, and Paul Volcker, are learning that after a period of stressing the need for increased worker productivity, in order to compete in world markets, hourly labor costs are growing at a faster rate than productivity. Total output per labor hour is starting to decline. Total employment is starting to plateau. Manufacturers and retailers are increasingly cautious about inventory build-ups.

Most manufacturers entered 1985 suspicious of a continued economic expansion. Most planning was for slow growth, reducing inventory exposure, and the need to build cash reserves. With the present low levels of inventories, and sluggish attitudes, the economy may limp along for several quarters without much of a decline or great possibility of overheating.

For this week, interest rates will be flat. Bonds and interest sensitive issues will trade in narrow ranges. Gold and silver continue to draw buyer attention; but more importantly it is drawing some renewed public interest which could develop into a "bubble rally".

For this week, short-term traders will continue on the sell side, using intra-day strength to close out positions and move to the sidelines. Intermediate term traders are evenly divided between buying and selling. Long term traders will cautiously be moving to the sidelines.

This week it looks like a repeat performance of last week's market. There does not seem to be much enthusiasm in either the "sellers camp" or "buyers camp". The $5.3 billion dollar rise in "M-1" almost went un-noticed. Interest rates will have little impact on the market this week. Some attention may be paid to "General Foods" problem with bad cheese. However, what may also go un-noticed is that long-term stock holders may be moving to the sidelines; which may have a negative impact on the market.

OPINION FOR AUG. 18, 1985.

NOTE: Budget deficits over the next three fiscal years will be larger than Congress estimated, according to the Administration and the Congressional Budget Office; producer prices up .3 percent retail sales rose a modest .4 percent, car sales fell, and industrial output rose .2 percent in July; and business inventories rose .4 percent in June... which all ties into this week's story!

McGuire--Butler marry

One hundred eighty guests were in attendance for the July 6 nuptials of Jody Jean McGuire of Fort Steward, Georgia, and David Richard Butler of Fort Polk, Louisiana. The ceremony was held in Lacrosse, Wisconsin, with the Rev. Charles Stoetzel of St. James Catholic Church in LaCrosse officiating. Sprays of white and blue orchids decorated the church for the double-ring ceremony. Music was by organist Dawn Pierce, with soloist Russel Pierce, who sang "Ave Maria," "The Wedding Song," "Sunrise, Sunset," "Let There Be Peace on Earth" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Don and Jean McGuire of Onolaska, Wisconsin. The groom is the son of Larry and Rosemary Butler of Westland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose an ivory and lace, full-length gown with chapel train for the late morning ceremony. A veil and lace headpiece, accented with sequins, secured her floor-length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of ivory roses and day lilies.

Serving as her honor attendant was Julie Marthaler, her cousin, who wore a light orchid floor-length gown, with lace bodice. She carried an ivory fan, decorated with blue orchids and roses.

The bridesmaids were Lorrie Schultz of Madison, Wisconsin, a friend of the bride, Alicia Campbell of Taylor, sister of the groom, and Carol Dabill of El Paso, Texas, friend of the bride. They wore floor-length gowns in a medium orchid color and carried ivory fans, accented with blue orchids and roses.

Flowergirl for the ceremony was Jennifer Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Curtis, who wore a full-length ivory gown.

The groom asked his brother, Dan Butler of Virginia Beach, Virginia, to perform the duties of best man. Serving as ushers were Joseph McGuire of Oregon, brother of the bride, Timothy Butler of Fayetteville, North Carolina, brother of the groom, and John McGuire of Onolaska, Wisconsin, brother of the bride.

Mrs. McGuire chose a floor-length blue gown with puffed sleeves for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Butler wore a full-length lilac gown with matching lace jacket.

A reception for the newlyweds and their 350 guests was held at the Maple Grove Country Club in West Salem, Wisconsin. The rehearsal dinner was held at the Holiday Inn in LaCrosse.

The couple honeymooned in Florida, enjoying deep sea fishing and Disneyworld.

The new Mrs. Butler is a graduate of Aquinas High School in LaCrosse and a 1979 graduate of the University of Wisconsin. She served in the Peace Corps in the Philippines for two years before earning a

Learning experience

Cooperative Extension opens grounds to youth

The Wayne County Extension and Education Center has opened its grounds for youth recreation during evenings through the end of September. Area youngsters are invited to join the 4-H Wildlife Club or just visit the grounds for supervised fun and education.

The grounds will be open Monday through Friday from 4:30 to 10:30 p.m. so youngsters may fish, study wildlife, participate in a variety of recreational activities, or meet new friends. The program is funded by the Wayne County Private Industry Corporation through the Michigan Youth Corp. It is being offered as a public service by Extension Job Training.

Director Gary Greenwell pointed out: "We have a tremendous resource here for young people to have fun. Without supervision, we have problems with vandalism and safety. In the past, we were forced to lock the grounds. Now we can protect the facility while providing supervision."

The program will be coordinated by Patrick Smith, who will supervise with his sister Donna and brother Michael. All three are Wayne residents who have experience organizing activities for groups of children. They will be identified by tan and teach about wildlife in the ponds and above the grounds.

The Wayne County Extension and Education Center is located at 5454 Venoy Road in Wayne. It can be found be-

Donna stressed that the program is both for boys and girls. Patrick added that they are going to plan some activities right away and let whoever comes out each evening make suggestions about their interests. Plans are already underway to make displays tween Michigan Avenue and Van Born Road, behind Ann Arbor Hospital.

For more information or to sign up for the club, call 728-JOBS Monday through Friday, 8:30 to 4:30 p.m. Interested youngsters may come into the Cooperative Extension Service during the day or show up in the evening and look for the supervisors.
